POLITICS

Politics is the public activity of individuals and groups in complex societies, the aim of which is the acquisition and manipulation of power for the purpose of governance.